

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

Ezra H. Baker, appointed chairman of the Vermont licensing board, recently by Gov. Curtis Guild, Jr., is a director of the Vermont Central railroad.

At the annual prize readings held at Tufts college, Medford, Mass., last Tuesday afternoon, the third prize was awarded to Sidney Joel Willis, '06, of Concord this state.

The farm house of Henry Merrill of Middlebury was struck by lightning during a storm last Thursday and one of the chimneys knocked off. The electricity prostrated the lady of the house so that she was unconscious for several hours.

Willis Bentley, of Sandgate aged 72 years dropped dead at his home there Sunday. He had been in his usual good health up to the time of his death and did not even complain of feeling ill at all before he died. He leaves a wife and three sons.

A window has been placed in the Methodist church at Shelburne by Mrs. E. M. Weston in memory of her father, James Farnsworth Wells. Mr. Wells was a prominent member of the church for 64 years, his membership dating from 1832. For nearly all of these years he was a high officer of the church. He died in 1896.

Miss Henrietta Perkins and Mrs. J. A. Elsworth and Miss Lillian Gould of Rutland are to sail soon for Europe where they will spend the following year. During the summer and fall their time will be taken up in eight seeing in various foreign countries. During the winter months they will reside at Dresden. Miss Perkins will take up the study of foreign languages.

Eugene Martin, an ex-inmate of the state insane asylum at Waterbury, who is alleged to have been in a fight with a policeman at Rutland last Wednesday, was captured Saturday between Mt. Holly and Ludlow. He was brought to Rutland and placed on trial, charged with assaulting a policeman. Martin denied the charge, saying that when he picked him up to help him, his brother, there was no policeman in it.

The Art of Sauntering.

"It is," said Thoreau, "a great art to saunter." . . . Would you know how to get the greatest amount of healthful fun out of your vacation this summer? Of course you would. So here's the formula: Take a walking tour. In fourteen days any person of average city physique can cover 300 miles, seeing interesting places, and gain an acreage of the most desirable sunburn, several pounds of muscle, a normal appetite, perfect digestion, an even pulse, a clear eye and a laugh that rings true. Of course I know you have read the prospectus of a mineral spring resort or a seaside hotel which promises to have all these things while you are merely lounging on the veranda and listening to the band. But don't let that mislead you. The author of that prospectus has an axe to grind, and he will charge you from $3 to $5 a day for doing the job, while I make you grind your own axe (thereby adding to your capital of self-reliance), and return you a liberal rebate in the shape of health, knowledge, good nature, and adventure. Kneel can never catch up with you on the road, and selfishness, jealousy and sour-eyed disdain those three well-worn goddesses of the spa and the seaside resort, have built themselves no altar along the trail. Yes, take a walking tour. It doesn't matter about your age or sex. If you dress right and know just what to carry, you will agree with me, at the end of your two weeks in gypsyland, that you have felt better, eaten better, slept better, and have had more solid tangible enjoyment than in any previous fortnight of your life. You'll find your mental horizon has widened, too, and that healthy open-air standards have taken the place of your former high-collared, kid-gloved, drawing-room ideals. Indoor complaints and querulous criticism will have ceased to trouble you, and your pale office complexion will be superseded by one of the sun and wind's own make. I say you will wonder why on earth you never thought of taking to the open road before. —Outdoors.

A Mountain of Gold

could not bring as much happiness to Mrs. Lucia Wilke of Caroline, Wis., as did finding 350 boxes of Buckle's Arnica Salve, when it completely cured a running sore on her leg, which had tortured her 23 long years. Greatest antiseptic healer of piles, wounds and sores. 25¢ at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

A DISASTROUS FLOOD.

Caused Death and Destruction in Arizona Yesterday.

Reno, Nev., May 29.—A disastrous flood occurred yesterday in Goicenda, Nev., following the breaking of a large dam in Pole Creek canyon, three miles above the corral of the Goicenda Cattle company. Five men were drowned and several were injured.

When the dam broke an immense volume of water poured down the canyon carrying everything before it. The wave struck the sheep corral, where a number of men were shearing sheep, and carried the men and the sheep away. Not a building or fence belonging to the Goicenda cattle company remained in place.

The track of the Southern Pacific railroad was undermined west of Goicenda and all trains are late. The dead are three Mexican sheep shearers, a Chinese cook and an Indian boy.

COLLEGE AND SCHOOL.

New York city, beginning with De Witt Clinton high school, is decorating its high schools with magnificent mural paintings.

Peka Inaka Seme, the full blooded Zulu who recently won the highest oratorical honors at Columbia university, has been engaged by the board of education public lecture bureau of New York to deliver a series of free public lectures on "Life in Zululand."

Professor A. W. Wright has announced his intention to retire from active service as professor of experimental physics and director of the Sloane Physical Laboratory of Yale college at the close of the present academic year. He graduated from Yale in 1889.

THE METROPOLIS.

The New York board of health has ordered cuspids placed in the aisles of all New York theaters.

It is stated that about two millions and a half will be needed now to so fix things as to prevent the Grant memorial from being surrounded by skyscrapers. New York will probably appeal to the rest of the country to raise the money.—Buffalo Commercial.

Mad as a March Hare.

"As mad as a March hare" has been explained in two ways. According to one, the expression is a corruption of marsh hare, since in marshy districts the hares have less protection and are wilder than in forests. According to the other, March is the rutting season of the hares, and they are then wilder and more restless than at any other time.

The Largest Book.

The largest book in the world is the "Kutub Dab" or "The Religious Code of the Buddhists." It is written on marble slabs, 729 in number, which it takes a city of pagodas to house, for each slab has its own separate house.

Blind Horses.

Blind horses are never known to make a mistake in their diet when grazing. Like all other horses, they are guided by the nostrils in the selection of proper food.

Delft.

The earliest delft is believed to have been an imitation of a blue and white porcelain made in China and first manufactured in Delft, Holland, some time in the fourteenth century. Some 200 years later the Dutch began the manufacture of the ware in England, and later the French potters attempted it with considerable success.

My New Girl.

Her blue eyes mind me of a doll; Her flaxen hair is fair to see; 'Tis true to say that all in all, She's just as sweet as she can be! —Lippincott's Magazine.

Salt.

Salt was first boiled in this country at Syracuse, N. Y., in 1787.

The "Hay Palms" Book.

The first book printed in the limits of the United States was the "Hay Palms Book," which was issued in Cambridge, Mass., in 1640. Specimens of this publication are extremely rare and command very high prices.

YOUR HAT

May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.

A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.

Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.

When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of Dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.

There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbury's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Rickett & Wells, Special Agents.

To Keep Cheese Fresh. To keep cheese fresh and moist is one of the problems of housekeeping.

There are several ways of doing this, but the best, verified by experience, is to wrap it up in damp butter muslin and not keep it in a warm place. In this way cheese may be kept for weeks.

Meerschaum.

The first meerschaum pipe was made and smoked by a shoemaker in 1823 at Pesth, Hungary. It is still in a museum there.

Peacock Coal.

The iridescent colors in what is called "peacock coal" are due to the presence of thin films of iron oxide. It usually means the loss of a part of the volatile matter in the coal and betokens inferior quality.

Penguins.

During the winter the shores of South Africa and South America are alive with penguins that have swum 800 or 900 leagues from the south polar ice fields to the nearest land.
